Excerpt from Francis the First: A Tragedy in Five Acts: As Performed at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden Has been pronounced by the London Quarterly Review, one of the most extraordinary works of the present age, and the arrival of Miss Kemble in the United States, renders its publication peculiarly appropriate. Fanny kemble, The rising hope and promise of the drama - the bud - the blossom - the half-blown rose and expectancy of the theatrical world - the pledge to the rising generation, that, in their time, at least, Juliet shall not lie buried in the tomb of the Capulets, or Belvidera s sorrows be entrusted entirely to regularly broken in, thorough-paced, tragedy hacks. I am well nigh tired of the mechanical woes and shallow agonies of every-day tragedy - of picturesque and passionless attitudinizing - of storms of grief, according to the stage directions - cross to R. H. and burst into tears; - of violent beating of the cold and insensible breast, and knocking of the clenched hand upon the empty head. I am...
