Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Citrus and Fruit Belt of Southern Arizona Arizona is divided by the thirty-fourth parallel of north latitude into two climatic zones, each distinct from the other. On the elevated plateau of Northern Arizona, between the southern boundary of Utah and the thirty-fourth parallel, four thousand to six thousand feet above the level of the sea, the temperature ranges during the year from 90 to 10 above zero. South of this region the altitude is from two thousand to four thousand feet less and the climate is much warmer. It is not the purpose of this pamphlet to speak of northern Arizona its delightful and invigorating climate, its immense forests of timber, its extensive coal measures, its marvelous mines of gold, silver and copper, its unexcelled grazing lands, its valleys which grow in endless profusion all kinds of cereals, vegetables and the hardier fruits, its fertile soil equal in productive capacity to that of any portion of the world, - all these deserve and will receive attention in a future article. Our subject at present will be Southern Arizona and its remarkable adaptability to fruit growing. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
